

SALLY SMITH AWARD

Background

The Sally Smith Award is presented in honour of Sally Smith who was a committee member of the PWSA Victoria for 32 years. During this time, Sally assisted many PWS families by educating them and their extended families about PWS and strategies on how to prepare and deal with the syndrome. Sally also spent time educating many schools, respite service providers and organizations across Australia about PWS and how to help the person with PWS out of a crisis and stressful situation.

The award will be given to a person in recognition of outstanding effort in promoting the education, awareness, well-being and welfare of people with Prader-Willi Syndrome and will be presented each year, at the Annual General Meeting of Prader-Willi Syndrome Association of Victoria.

The nominated person will receive the Sally Smith Award and a $200 gift voucher to Amazon books or voucher of choice but must be for educational purposes.

Criteria for being nominated

1. A person who has gone over and above the call of duty to assist a PWS family or families OR
2. A person with PWS who has shown outstanding effort in education, sport, music, drama, dance, art, etc and/or contributed to the well-being or recognition of other people with PWS
